

October
2019

MONTHLY NEWSLETTER

NEW PROJECT UPDATE

SALISBURY REGIONAL AIRPORT GETS MAJOR RENOVATIONS

Exciting things happening for the Salisbury Regional Airport! Fisher Architecture has been working closely with the client on the many projects that are expected to come within a five year span. The Salisbury Airport is in desperate need of renovations and additions. Some of these projects are expected to start soon. Included in the new projects to come, Fisher Architecture has provided architectural and interior design for a new FBO corporate jet hangar and a new UAS drone hangar facility. The 38,000 square foot FBO hangar with a two-story Porte-Cochere would allow multimillion-dollar jets to have a place to be stored, maintenance, and high scale lounge area for the owners.

Stay tuned for further developments on new projects on the horizon!

Fisher Architecture supported the 9th annual Run/Walk for Wor-Wic 5K run/walk! The 5K event is a fundraiser to support the students of Wor-Wic Community College.

Congratulations to our very own FIRST place winners, James Fisher and Sarah Finch!

QUEENSTOWN BANKS GET REBRANDED

Queenstown Bank, an iconic and longstanding banking staple on the Eastern Shore Community has hired Fisher Architecture's architectural and interior design teams to take on the task of rebranding their branches, starting with three locations: Chester, Queenstown, and Grasonville. The Chester branch is first for remodel. On the exterior, the front facade will get a facelift that directly mimics the symbolic front facade of the main branch in Queenstown, MD but with added storefront glass between columns to let in much needed natural light. Overall, each location will incorporate the same major changes from inside and out. On the interior we will implement an open floor plan, a small lounge area for flexible iPad banking, small private offices along the perimeter for private banking needs, a freestanding teller tower to encourage teller-client interaction, and a clear line of sight to the vault. Each exterior will incorporate the four pillars with added glass to emphasize the bank's iconic history, as well as lighten up the interiors with daylighting.

Fisher Architecture attended Coastal Style's Best Of Party! Thank you for voting us BEST Architect and BEST Architectural Firm!

We celebrate TEN years in business this month!
We thank each and every one of you for your continued support!

hechard@fisherarchitecture.com